PLEASANT OCCASION.

There was a very pleasant affair at the Grand Street M. P. Church last night that occupied every seat and every inch of aisle space. The occasion was the semi-monthly entertainment of the Young People's Guild, and all previous efforts of the same organization had been as beautiful one, pleasing both the eye and ear. Twelve of the High School's students gave the vocal solos, and the young maidens went through a Deleasant drill that was encored until, for lack of time, the audience was obliged to leave the church. The songs by talented Washingtonians, recitations by Georgetown's best and songs from those on the Grand staff were all well rendered. The orchestra present consisting of fifteen pieces.

GRAND LONER.

The semi-annual visitation of the Grand Lodge officers to Covenant Lodge, No. 13, occurred last night, and the Odd Fellows' Hall was crowded to the doors. The Grand Master, Grand Master Gawler delivered the address of welcome and Grand Master Crowshaw the response. The speeches by Messrs. Cartell, Mead, Colgate and Kenney followed. A musical and literary program that had been prepared

THE CAVALRY HELMET.

Under most favorable auspices the newly-organized Georgetown Brass Band last night made its first public appearance. Among those who made distinctive hits by their masterly handling of the instruments they played were Harry Hoppe, the leader, and the young men Jim Hokin and Mr. Orrell. The jig of Mr. Falkner caught the entire audience, and C. H. Hughes, the bugler, of the Washington Light Infantry, contributed a big share of the evening's enjoyment by his playing of "The Stars and Stripes." Mr. Hoppe, the youthful cornetist, was more than equal to the task, and his playing of "The Stars and Stripes" especially received the large audience recognition and demonstration of showing their appreciation. The following program was presented:

Gregory, a former member of the seventh precinct force, has been appointed as the new superintendent of the bathing beach, working hard in the interest of that wash resort. He is canvassing among the down town business people in an effort to raise about $100 in sums of $1, $2 and $5. He says that this needs a cash paid up capital of $200. This is needed to make some necessary repairs and to make the beach attractive and ready to take place last season during the time that the rescue boat was in commission. The beach is now in a very poor condition, with no boat and bottommen, and money is need for them.
